WORKERS MEMORIAL DAY • APRIL 28 • 2010

DECADES OF STRUGGLE BY WORKERS AND THEIR UNIONS have resulted in significant improvements in working conditions. Eight years of neglect and inaction by the Bush Administration eroded worker safety and health protections. Now, with an administration that is on the workers' side, we have an opportunity to change the direction of the country and chart a new course – one that will benefit the worker and the economy! It is time to organize and take action in the fight for good jobs for workers by :

- Passing the Protecting America's Workers Act [H.R.2067, S.1580] which will provide :
 - Protection for the millions of workers currently not covered by the Occupational Safety & Health Act [1970] including public-sector workers, flight attendants and more.
 - Stronger criminal and civil penalties for companies that put workers in serious danger and routinely break workplace safety laws.
 - Improved anti-discrimination and whistleblower protections so that workers can raise workplace safety or health concerns without fear of retaliation.
- New workplace safeguards for long-recognized hazards such as silica as well as emerging hazards including threats such as pandemic flu.
- Prohibitions on employer policies and practices that discourage the reporting of injuries.
- Measures to protect workers to protect workers from ergonomic hazards which continue to injure and cripple more workers than any other workplace hazard.
- Increase the attention to the safety and health of the Hispanic and immigrant workers who are being killed on the job in increasingly high numbers.
- Stronger protections for miners, including tighter standards for coal dust to protect against black lung.
- The right to workers to have a voice on the job and to freely choose to join a union and bargain without employer interference or intimidation.
